Blocker Norfolk Family YMCA “In Good Hands” with Allstate Grant

Norfolk - Volunteering as a YMCA teen basketball coach wasn't enough to satisfy Allstate agent and YMCA member Mike Sanoba. However, his third annual donation of a $500 Allstate “Agency Hands in the Community” grant to the YMCA of South Hampton Roads helps.

“It’s important to me to volunteer for such a worthwhile organization,” said Sanoba. “The YMCA provides a safe and enriching environment where teens can learn and grow into productive young adults,” he added.

Sanoba, who has been an Allstate agent in the Norfolk area for over ten years, became involved with the Blocker Norfolk Family YMCA in 2005. His passion for the YMCA’s programs to teach local teens leadership skills, job preparedness, character development and community service, led him to volunteer with the YMCA’s Youth Sports program.

“I’m so proud of all that the YMCA of South Hampton Roads does to help residents and families in this community,” says Sanoba. “It’s important to me to be involved in my community, not just as a business owner, but also as a supporter of an organization that helps make the Norfolk community a prosperous and vibrant place to live.”

Sanoba’s donation was funded by the Allstate Foundation, which offers “Agency Hands in the Community” grants to recognize the outstanding efforts of qualified agents who volunteer in their communities. The grant will be used to further programs administered by the YMCA of South Hampton Roads.
